TRAINS BOTHERED HIS SLEEP AND MAN USES A GUN

Philadelphia.—Annoyed in slumber by the frequent passing of trains on Caldwell street, during the early hours of the morning, Patrick Sullivan, 45 years old, took matters into his own hands.

When Andrew Trunk, an engineer for the Philadelphia and Reading was driving the train near Second and Girard avenue, late at night he was startled to see a man dressed in a red shirt and carrying a shotgun rush onto the tracks. Pointing the gun at the engineer, he ordered him to stop. Trunk obeyed the order.

Sullivan said he was tired of having trains interfere with his sleep. When he had finished his speech the train crew took the gun and carried Sullivan into his home. A warrant charging him with breach of the peace and disorderly conduct was sworn out. Sullivan was arraigned before Magistrate Scott and held in $400 bail for court. Albert Werner, an engineer on the same branch, testified that Sullivan had held up his train in a similar manner.

LEGAL NOTICES

LITTLE GIRL CURED OF LAMENESS BY SEVERE OPERATION

New York.—An operation, the only one of its kind ever successfully performed, so far as is known at Fordham Hospital, has freed four-year-old Marion Sullivan of a disfiguring lameness from which she had suffered since an attack of infantile paralysis, more than two years ago.

The operation, which involved the removal of a bone from the left ankle, was performed by Dr. Alfred S. Taylor, a visiting surgeon. The bone had been pulled out of alignment because muscles on one side had been dried up, while those on the opposite side remained unaffected. The child seemed doomed to tread forever on the inside of her left instep.

When the plaster cast was removed from the foot and it was seen Marion would soon be able to walk and run like any normal child, doctors and nurses rejoiced. But their gladness was nothing compared to that of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sullivan of Brooklyn, father and mother of the small patient, or her grand-aunt, Margaret Sullivan, with whom she lived.

MAKES NICE PROFIT ON OLD MACHINE

Once upon a time a man bought a second-hand automobile, says the Wichita (Kan.) "Beacon."

The vehicle was young when Noah built the ark. The wheels did the corkscrew curve every time they turned over. The exhaust sounded like a foghorn with a cold.

"It's cheap at $450," declared the smiling agent.

"I'll take it," responded our hero.

When he puffed down the street in the relic no one laughed at him.

The engine ran very nicely and never balked once.

He didn't stall on the crossings and get in bad with the traffic cops.

Everything went lovely.

After a summer's enjoyment with his machine he went to a sales agency to trade in his machine on a new car.

"How much will you give me on this machine in a trade?" asked our hero.

"Five hundred dollars," was the reply.

"I'll take it!" exclaimed our hero.

And he lived happily ever after.

PRETTY GREEN HOSE FOOLS OLD DOBBIN

Pittsburg.—An old piebald horse a pretty girl, a neatly turned ankle and calf, the latter two encased in green silken hose, caused much excitement on Smithfield Street.

The old horse was standing in front of a big department store contentedly dozing when the girl with the green hose, in the act of tripping across the street hesitated in front of him, and to prevent her skirt from dragging on the curb lifted it a trifle high, just in front of the old piebald's eye.

The color scheme evidently reminded the old nag of green pastures, for he quickly reached out his almost toothless jaws and began nibbling at the "green."

With a scream the girl was off, while the crowd that gathered gazed

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

AGED MAN TURNED OUT OF HOME BY DRUNKEN SON

Reno.—A. J. Wilcox, 86, veteran of the Mexican and Civil wars, deeded his farm of 27 acres, near Brawley, Cal., to his son several weeks ago, making a stipulation the son should care for him for the remainder of his life in return for the property. The son took to drinking, according to Wilcox, and when remonstrated with, told his father to "get off the farm if he didn't like it."

The octogenarian landed in Reno with 55 cents and he had to put up all but a 5-cent piece to sleep. Early next morning he started on foot for Ogden and managed to reach a point about twenty miles from Hazen, when overcome by hunger, thirst and heat.

R. C. Sackett and James Meininger, driving the Studebaker car in the Lincoln Highway motion picture caravan, found the old man and brought him to Reno.

"Lose the land? No, I don't think so," said the old man. "I talked with a judge at Brawley and he told me the deed wouldn't hold good as the boy had broken the contract by ordering me off the land. He said he would stop any funny business and would tie up the funds and prevent any mortgage being given."

Wilcox left last night for Ogden with a ticket given him by the Lincoln Highway party and with enough cash to eat good hearty meals for several days.

LONGWORTH TELLS JOKE ON HIMSELF

"Nick" Longworth tells this one on himself:

"When I was traveling in China I met a very delightful Chinese man who seemed to know something of America, and as he chatted he asked me:

"What was your college?"

"Harvard," said I, proudly.

"Ever interested in rowing in you day?" he inquired.

"Quite a bit," I replied.

"What's the length of the Harvard slide now?" he wanted to know, and I immediately sensed he had known something of the boat. So we talked of oarsmanship and water men, and at last I asked:

"When you were in America were you ever at New London for the races?"

"Oh, yes," he said, softly, for three years."

"Then you've seen Harvard row?" I offered.

"No, never saw her," he almost hisped.

"You were at New London for three years and never saw Harvard row? How could that be?"

"I was co'x'n in the Yale boat, and Harvard was so far behind each year that I never saw her row!"

HAVE NEW WAY TO CATCH SPEEDERS

Country constables and justices of the peace no longer say "By Gosh" and display tin badges of frying pan proportions on an overworked "gal-lus."

Neither do they resort to the comic artist idea of clothesline stretched across the narrow and dusty highway or the tenpenny nails of fiction and fable strewn in the path of the harassed motorist.

Instead there is the smooth, suave guardian of the law with Sherlock methods. To the modern village constable the stop watch is as familiar as a cow and the dictagraph more dear to the heart than the price of corn.

At least this is true if we are to believe C. M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, who complained to State's Attorney that a

STEALS MAN'S WIFE AND THEN ASKS HIM FOR JOB

New York.—Asked to give a position to the man who had stolen his wife, so that he could support her, was the last straw on John G. Morrell's back, and as a result Harry N. Reeves, special master, has recommended that he receive a decree of divorce from Ethel Elizabeth Morrell of Jersey City.

"After my wife went away with Nicholas Costa my father-in-law came to me and asked me if I had any objection to giving Costa a job," said Morrell, who is foreman in a big electrical concern at Newark, N. J. "He explained that since Costa had broken up my home he had lost his own and that he had to support himself and my wife."

Morrell declined to employ Costa. Later he learned that Costa had been employed in the plant under an assumed name. He caused him to be discharged and instituted action for divorce.

TO MAKE CHICAGO SUBURB BEAUTIFUL

Chicago.—Exclusive Lake Forest is to be still more exclusive. According to the plans of a committee of five, composed of millionaire residents of the town, Lake Forest merchants will soon be doing business in buildings harmonizing with the show places of the city, amid a setting of spraying fountains, shade trees and graveled walks.

"deep laid plot" against automobile lites had been made by Stiffred La Point, who styles himself "Thornton township officer," and Daniel T. Curran, Harvey, Ill., justice of the peace.

In Western Avenue, just outside of Harvey, is a beautiful curve. Its approaches are smooth paved and it is the delight of the auto enthusiast. At the exact curve, according to Mr. officer" is in the habit of placing his self.

Is there a rope across the road?

There is not. Instead, clutched tightly in one hand of the vigilant officer is a stop watch, and his eyes, to use the best fictional terms, are glued on the road a hundred yards or so beyond the turn.

There are to be found several cornstalks, stretched across the highway. Directly in front of the constable at the exact point of the turn, is a similar row of stalks. Along comes a motorist.

Flip—and up goes a cornstalk down the road.

Snap—goes the stop watch.

Flip—goes another cornstalk up at the turn.

Snap—goes the stopwatch, twenty-five an hour.

Then the arrest and a fine by the justice follows.

THIS NATION IS FAST BECOMING VEGETARIAN

Detroit.—Despite the fact that fried chicken is America's leading dish, this country is rapidly becoming a nation of vegetarians, speakers at the International hotel steward's convention declared.

The conclusion was reached after various stewards of leading Eastern hotels voiced the sentiments of the 250-odd delegates that it is growing more difficult to satisfy the typical American demand on meat dishes.

Discussion which followed was ended when a ballot was taken showing that fried chicken still leads the culinary list of the nation. But—and here the vegetarians scored heavily—lettuce salad is next in popularity. Then the discussion took a more serious turn. "Latin American people in the southern states," spoke Delegate John Nester of Chicago, "never were partial to meats."

They have been joined by European races, who, attaining wealth

WIFE BRINGS BACK BODY OF HUSBAND

Modesto.—After more than two months of hardships, Mrs. Ada Fay has arrived here with the body of her husband, Walter A. Fay, who was murdered by Yaqui Indians in Sonora, Mexico,
